Ceramica CH: Neuchtel (Volume 1)

Roland Blaettler : Ceramica CH: Neuchtel (Volume 1) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Ceramica CH: Neuchtel (Volume 1):

The collections of Swiss museums hold ceramic treasures of unknown quantity and immeasurable value. These precious objects from national and international manufacturers are not only unknown to a broader public but to most experts as well, first and foremost because they are not on exhibition and have never been publicized in any form. The Ceramica Foundation, based in Basel, Switzerland has dedicated its activities since 1954 to promoting research on ceramics. In 2009 the foundation launched the project Ceramica CH, which aims to compile a national inventory of all publicly accessible collections of modern ceramics (1500 1950). This one-of-a-kind project will feature all institutions in Switzerland that own ceramic collections. Each volume of this series will be dedicated to one canton; the first volume catalogues and analyzes the ceramic collections of Neuchtel. The Muse d'art et d'histoire in Neuchtel owns one of the five biggest collections in Switzerland, other collections from local museums, as for example in Neuchtel, La

Chaux-de-Fonds, Le Locle ou Mtiers, are featured as well.
