Ceramics in America 2008 (Ceramics in America Annual)

From Chipstone : Ceramics in America 2008 (Ceramics in America Annual) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Ceramics in America 2008 (Ceramics in America Annual):

This volume of Ceramics in America features articles on eighteenth-century New York and New Jersey salt-glazed stoneware, a fascinating ceramic cargo from the "Blue China" wreck, nineteenth-century ceramic consumption patterns in the Anglo-American merchant trade, and commemorative ceramics made for the 1907, 1957, and 2007 anniversaries of the founding off Jamestown, Virginia. Included are many additional articles detailing important new discoveries in the ceramic field and scholarly reviews of recently published ceramic books.

"In design and production, in perfect photography and meticulous scholarship, Ceramics in America sets the standard for research on material culture in the United States." (Henry Glassie, Department of Folklore and Ethnomusicology, Indiana University)"With gorgeous illustrations and keen insights from leading ceramic historians, collectors, and archaeological colleagues, Ceramics in America is truly the sort of treasure that archaeologists seek." (Mary C. Beaudry, Department of Archaeology, Boston University)About the AuthorEditor ROBERT HUNTER is a Fellow of the Society of Antiquaries of London and an archaeologist and ceramic historian living in Williamsburg, Virginia.
