Coin Collecting For Dummies

Neil S. Berman, Ron Guth : Coin Collecting For Dummies before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Coin Collecting For Dummies:

5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. Useful book for beginners By Martin Baca Of course, I can recommend this book for all numismatists, particularly for beginners. The book covers almost all necessary aspects of coin collecting, such as buying, storing, grading, cleaning, recognizing, prices, types, and so on. The book is written in plain English and is logically divided into parts, chapters, sub-chapters, and tinged up with funny examples and style. On the other hand, authors should have paid more attention to cleaning coins, numismatic catalogs and should have paid less attention to American coins. Numismatics as a part of Auxiliary Sciences of History is a beautiful hobby and this book handbook, or rather these two authors are willing to help to build your collection and your skills. 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Later he represented Superior Galleries under the Goldbergs, also as a purchasing agent. In 1979, Neil, with his brother Jed, founded First Federal Coin Company, the first East Coast coin company to sell rare coins into IRA, Keogh, and pension plans. From 1983 until 1990, he was the purchasing agent for Asset Services, Inc., the largest coin company serving the financial community. Neil donated his large collection of German and Swiss silver minor coins to the American Numismatic Society (ANS) in 1989. In 1997, he received the American Numismatic Association (ANA) Service Award from ANA President David Ganz. In 2005 and 2006, he was associated again with Superior Galleries of Beverly Hills, this time under the ownership of numismatist Silvano DiGenova. Neil catalogued the U.S. gold in the 1977 Kagins ANA Coin Auction Sale, the first New York coin auction sale in 1981 of Spink and Sons, England's oldest and largest coin dealer, and a coin auction sale by Superior Rare Coin Galleries of Beverly Hills in 2006. Ron is a certified public accountant (CPA), a licensed auctioneer, and a writer, but the bulk of his time is spent on his true love coin collecting and dealing. Ron's battle with coin fever began when he was 12 years old, and he's never gotten over it. After a decade of collecting, Ron went professional in 1976, when he began working for a local coin shop in Tampa, Florida. In 1978, he partnered with David Goldsmith and purchased the Bay Area Coin Exchange in Tampa. Ron and Dave blasted through the silver boom, and then split up in 1981, when Ron moved to Evansville, Indiana (his wife's hometown), where he set up shop on First Avenue. In 1984, Ron formed Mid-American Rare Coin Auctions with Jeff Garrett of Lexington, Kentucky. The company quickly established itself as an innovative leader in the industry and, within the first year, became the fifth largest rare coin auction company in America. In 1988, Ron sold his interest in the company, went back to school to finish his bachelor's degree in accounting and finance, and has since become a numismatic consultant and a major dealer in German coins. In 1984, Ron won the American Numismatic Association's Wayte and Olga Raymond and Heath Literary awards. He has written many coin-related articles and is listed as a contributor to several books, including Walter Breens Encyclopedia of United States Coins, Krause Publications's Standard Catalog of German Coins, Roger S. Cohens American Half Cents, Walter Breens Encyclopedia of United States Half Cents, and others. Ron has served as a numismatic consultant for many rare-coin companies, including major firms such as the Professional Coin Grading Services, Heritage Numismatic Auctions, and Early American History Auctions.
